Death of Samuel Ford—Village Officers Chosen.

By the death of Samuel W. Ford which occurred at his home, Tuesday evening, April 4, the people of Concord lost an aged and much respected citizen.

Mr. Ford suffered from an attack of grip in February, which left him with occasional attacks of neuralgia, finally terminating in neuralgia of the heart causing his death. Samuel Williams Ford was born in Grafton, N. H., June 16, 1823, a son of Robert and Lydia Hale Ford. He was the last one of a family of 11 children. When he was six years of age, his parents moved to Kirby, and in the public schools of that town he received his early educational training. From 17 years of age to 30 he was employed as farm laborer. He was an excellent type of his class of that period, now unfortunately so seldom to be found in our agricultural communities. Sturdy, intelligent, and industrious, he fought his way through difficulties and obstacles until he was able to make a home for himself. He was married at this place March 8, 1853 by the Rev. William Livingston, pastor of the First Universalist church, to Sophronia M. Willey. In January, 1855 he settled upon the farm which he has occupied ever since. Four children settled home with him, Mrs. Ford, Ellery, who lives in Gardiner, Me., Helen, (Mrs. W. H. Lindsay) of this place, Daniel Ford, who resides near the home farm, (wife of Milo Green) who died in St. Johnsbury, and a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Astle, who has been deeply interested in anything that pertained to the best welfare of the town, having acted as lister and appraiser many years in succession, following that as chairman of the board of selectmen at a time when all the energy and activity of his nature was called forth by the call for recruits for the civil war. In one day he enrolled the full quota of Concord, 100 men, and he represented the town in the legislature. He has been a trustee of the Essex County grammar school for many years and was always using his influence for the permanent good of the school. He had several many estates and acted as guardian for several orphan children to the satisfaction of all concerned, he was indeed a friend to everyone in need. The funeral was held at his home Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Grant Van Blarcom officiating. A mixed quartet sang three selections. There were many beautiful flowers. The interment was in Grove cemetery East St. Johnsbury.
